Conclusive 01: All the herbs in reality are converted to allopath medical treatments. But they do not give any side effects. But though hydrazine, oxygen are abundant not directly attacking on human beings. Though they attack slowly there is no adverse effect on us. Supposing if we use though herbs and convert into chemical and use in the treatment of human beings then we get good immediate result. Whether it is wrong or right. They increase the capacity of human shells and immunity power and increase chromosome level. Or for those who have defecate calcium increases calcium level. Because they have higher php level when compare to other infections, viruses and other diseases. They have got acid to control in advance viruses, infections and diseases. If the same is converted into tablets and inject able medicines and convert into allopathic medicine we get immediate result. But it will start giving side effect because they have converted chemical. If the chemical is reduced the same can be called as Ayurvedic Treatments.
